

Top tips for leaseholders

A ONE-STOP property shop is behind a new leaseholder support service.

The Ringley Group, based in Royal College Street, Camden Town, has set up website www.leaseholdersupport.co.uk

The site is written by surveyors and property managers and provides a range of advice.

Mary-Anne Bowring, founding director of the group, said: "All leaseholders of small blocks of flats need reliable back-up, financial information when they need it and professionals available when necessary.

"Trying to manage legal formalities, getting all the occupants to pay for repairs or maintenance on time or even telling a neighbour they can't make an illegal alteration to their property is stressful and sometimes impossible."

The support service costs from around £525.
